Chic Vintage Ethnic

Vintage ethnic jewellery is unique and an unusual ethnic jewellery piece worn with a white shirt or t-shirt and a pair of jeans is the height of chicness. The slightly exotic nature of vintage ethnic jewellery will focus attention on the wearer.

Vintage ethnic and tribal inspired jewellery in an amazing adornment and in the Glamour39 vintage section, a one of a kind piece.

Ethnic and tribal vintage jewellery adds a distinctive design edge and as with the statement necklace, one piece can be used as a key accessory in your overall look.

One of the key elements of vintage ethnic/tribal jewellery is the intricate design, with pieces being made with carved beads, or the use of hammered metal and stone set pendants. The use of beads from natural materials such as wood, coral and semi precious stones really jazzes things up. Metal, and ceramic beads in unusual shapes and textures are also used.

Like other types of vintage jewellery, ethnic and tribal influenced jewellery can be more individual and authentic than mass produced jewellery. Vintage global style jewellery adds a unique rustic world chic charm and can be considered wearable art.

There is a tribal luxe feel to vintage jewellery of this genre as each design is unique and is personal to the wearer.

Jewellery inspiration comes from India, the African continent, Native American and Amazon tribe influences.

Vintage jewellery available from the Glamour Vintage range.
